

Joint Press Release

MONACO ENTERS THE CAPITAL OF AZZURRA AEROPORTI, THE MAJORITY SHAREHOLDER OF AÉROPORTS DE LA CÔTE D'AZUR

23 June 2017 – Atlantia SpA, EDF Invest and the Principality of Monaco are pleased to announce that the French government has given the go-ahead for the Principality to acquire an interest in the capital of Azzurra Aeroporti, the majority shareholder of Aéroports de la Côte d'Azur.

At Nice Côte d'Azur Airport today, Minister of State, Serge Telle, accompanied by Jean Castellini, Advisor to the Minister of Finance and the Economy, and the representatives of Azzurra Aeroporti's associates, Giovanni Castellucci, Managing Director of Atlantia SpA, and Guillaume d'Engremont, Director of EDF Invest, signed an agreement on the acquisition by the Principality of Monaco of an interest in the company, the majority shareholder of Aéroports de la Côte d'Azur (ACA), which manages Nice Côte d'Azur, Cannes Mandelieu and Saint Tropez airports and the international Sky Valet stop-over assistance network for business aviation.

Under the terms of the operation, the Principality will acquire a stake in Azzurra Aeroporti, ACA's majority shareholder, with a 64% stake held since November 2016, following the French government's decision to privatise the company. Azzurra Aeroporti is owned by the Franco-Italian consortium comprising the Atlantia group (which currently holds a 75% interest together with its subsidiary Aeroporti di Roma) and EDF Invest (about 25%).

Contacts with the Prince's Government have intensified since Azzurra Aeroporti acquired a stake in ACA, resulting in an agreement on the sale by Atlantia of a 12.5% stake in the capital of Azzurra Aeroporti to the Principality, under the same conditions that applied to the initial transaction.

The transfer will take place in July 2017.

The Aéroports de la Côte d'Azur Group manages Nice Côte d'Azur, Cannes Mandelieu and Golfe de Saint-Tropez airports and is ranked second in Europe in terms of business air traffic. Europe's leading group in 2016 for business aviation ground handling through its Sky Valet brand, it also operates at Paris Le Bourget, across Spain and in Portugal. www.skyvalet.com

Nice Côte d'Azur is France's second busiest airport after Paris, with 12.4 million passengers in 2016, 111 direct destinations and 61 scheduled airlines serving 38 countries. Outside Paris, it is also the only French airport to offer daily flights to New York and Dubai. www.nice.aeroport.fr
